Technical Summary

In conjunction with a magnetic field and the load, the flux capacitor uses the hierarchical structure of the cosmos as a timer.

The trilamination of the tiny spheres with selected metals and their subjection to a magnetic field and current (sustained by the load) destabilizes the orderliness of the proton, the heavier atom and the tissue of individual layers of metal. The matter then seeks to re-establish itself in the fractal set.

The trilamination inserts the next higher context of presence within the five to eleven dimensional collapsible schema of the proximal parallel universe (of course).
